HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT
David R. Obey
United States House of Representatives (D-Wisconsin)

David R. Obey has represented Wisconsin's Seventh District in Congress for 28 years. First elected in 1969, Congressman Obey has been a key political and intellectual leader of the progressive forces within the House of Representatives.

Congressman Obey is the only member of the House to have served on the three major economic committees in Congress: the Budget Committee, which deals with overall budget priorities; the Joint Economic Committee, which conducts long-term analysis of trends in the economy; and the Appropriations Committee, which makes funding decisions on every discretionary program in the federal budget. He has chaired both the Appropriations and Joint Economic Committees and is the ranking Democrat on Appropriations.

Obey's achievements in Congress span a broad range of domestic and international issues. He has been an outspoken advocate of greater investments in education, health research, worker training, occupational health and safety, and assistance to families with special health and education needs. He has won awards for his work on behalf of handicapped education, vocational education, the needs of mentally ill children, Head Start, rural education, and student aid.

Through the Subcommittee on Foreign Operations, he helped reshape foreign assistance spending priorities by shrinking the military assistance share of the aid budget by more than one-third; played a leading role in designing U.S. assistance to Eastern Europe and the former Soviet republics after the fall of communism; and has been deeply involved in U.S. efforts to support Middle East peace. He has insisted that U.S. bilateral aid agencies and international financial institutions be more aggressive in recognizing the impact of their actions on global environmental problems and has been a leader in pushing government to respond to the plight of refugees.

Since the day he arrived in Congress, Obey has been a leading reformer; he sponsored many of the rules changes in the 1970s which reduced the arbitrary power of committee chairs and placed more responsibility in committee caucuses and the elected leadership. He led a successful effort to establish a new code of ethics that required a detailed disclosure of personal finances and limited outside income to a percentage of the congressional salary. The 1974-75 Obey Commission overhauled the House Code of Ethics and made sweeping recommendations to reform the administrative structure of the House, many of which have been adopted.

Congressman Obey is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He is married to the former Joan Lepinski and has two sons, Craig and Douglas.

The Tradition of Commencement at American University

American University awarded its first degrees (two doctorates and one master's) at a commencement ceremony held in the university's amphitheater in 1916. Over the years, commencements have grown and changed as the university has grown larger and more diverse. Today, the university marks its 105th commencement. More than 1600 students from the diverse disciplines of the arts and sciences, communication, law, business, public affairs, and international service will participate in commencement ceremonies this spring.

The distinguished list of university honorary degree recipients includes U.S. Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy, and William J. Clinton, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, Congresswoman Barbara C. Jordan, editor and publisher Norman Cousins, astronomer Carl Sagan, symphony conductor Mstislav Rostropovich, statesman Alexander Dubcek, ambassador Robert Strauss, author Alex Haley, television journalist Ted Koppel, historian Henry Steele Commager, businessman J. Willard Marriott and economist John Kenneth Galbraith, to name a few.

We take pride in this long and distinguished tradition of commencement as we celebrate the achievements of today's graduating class.

President's Award Recipient

Robyn A. LeBoeuf

An exemplary student and campus citizen, Robyn LeBoeuf's contributions to American University have been as inspirational as her scholarship has been exceptional.

As an AU Ambassador for four years and the "Executive Ambassador of the Year" in 1995, she led campus tours for hundreds of prospective students and their families and developed orientation programs to help new students adapt to college. She improved campus spirit among resident students as vice president of the Residence Hall Association and Anderson Hall, which earned "Hall of the Year" recognition in the process. Through her work with AU's Freshman Service Experience program, she introduced students to the challenges of city life among the less fortunate and instilled into AU's newest students the commitment to caring and community service that has become an essential part of an AU education.

In the College of Arts and Sciences, she served on the Dean's Advisory Board, the Educational Policy Steering Committee, and helped organize and contributed her own research to the annual Student Research Conference. She also excelled as a member of the Department of Performing Arts' AU Singers and the Concert Choir.

While devoting her time to the university community, Robyn achieved top academic honors, maintaining a 3.97 grade point average while taking a challenging double major in Psychology and Statistics and conducting research of publishable quality. In addition to earning Dean's List honors every semester, her scholarship was recognized when she was awarded the prestigious National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowship. She is graduating summa cum laude with University Honors.

Robyn's honors include membership in Phi Beta Kappa, Golden Key, Mortar Board, and Psi Chi honor societies, and her awards include the Fletcher Scholar Award and the University Student Award for Outstanding Scholarship at the Undergraduate Level.

With sensitivity and warmth, a positive outlook and professional demeanor, Robyn's dedication to the university and her extraordinary academic accomplishments make her truly outstanding among AU students. We are delighted to celebrate her achievements and present Robyn with the 1997 President's Award.

Academic Regalia

The history of academic dress dates to medieval European universities of the fourteenth century. Universities originally used the same clerical robe and hood as the religious orders which established them. When universities achieved identity as educational institutions rather than extensions of religious orders, the design and the symbolism of their regalia began to change. Universities in Europe and areas culturally tied to Europe developed colorful gowns and caps and the hood became a designator of degrees earned instead of a piece of headgear.

Many American institutions have adopted caps and gowns incorporating their official colors. American University's distinctive red, white and blue regalia was introduced in 1988. All undergraduates wear the mortarboard cap with a silver tassel that is traditionally shifted from left to right at the end of the commencement ceremony. Undergraduate students who are projected to graduate with Latin honors and/or University honors wear gold hoods.

Graduate students wear a blue hood lined in red and white with velvet trim to signify their degree or academic field. All master of arts students wear a white-edged hood, except for those in education (light blue) and international service (peacock blue). Gold velvet trim denotes master of science degrees. Other degrees with specific hood trim colors include the Master of Business Administration (drab), Master of Fine Arts (brown) and Master of Public Administration (also peacock blue). Juris Doctor students wear hoods edged with purple, as do those receiving the Master of Laws, who also wear a tam cap in place of the mortarboard.

American University doctoral degree candidates wear the tam with a silver tassel and carry their degree hoods in the processional. They are then "hooded" by their faculty adviser during the commencement ceremony. Members of the faculty generally wear the regalia to which they are entitled by virtue of the degrees they hold. The regalia may denote their alma mater and the field of study in which the highest degree was earned.

Although some universities use different systems, the academic field is usually identified in accord with a standard code of colors used as part of the decoration of doctor's gowns or tassels on caps as well as hood trim. In addition to fields listed above, these include: economics (copper), journalism (crimson), library science (lemon yellow), music (pink), philosophy (dark blue), science (golden yellow) and theology (scarlet).

Spring 1997 Degree Candidates

The following students have applied to receive degrees as of spring 1997. The university awards degrees only after certifying that all degree requirements have been satisfied.

Graduation honors listed for individual students are projections based upon the cumulative grade point average at the conclusion of the fall 1996 semester. These designations are subject to verification at the time of final degree clearance.

Students who are projected to graduate with Latin honors and/or University honors wear gold hoods during the commencement ceremony.
